James R. Field Appointed Vice President and Regional Business Manager for Middough Inc.

New executive to expand company's national presence in the oil and gas industry

CLEVELAND, Ohio (April 20, 2010)—Middough Inc., a top ranking U.S. architectural, engineering and management services company, has hired a new Vice President and Regional Business Manager, James R. Field, to its Process Business.

As Vice President and Regional Business Manager, Field joins Middough with a distinguished 35-year career in engineering, financial management and contract negotiations. He is charged with expanding Middough's national presence in the oil, gas, refining and chemical industries in the Gulf Coast Region. He is responsible for all facets of the business including overall strategy, new market segments, project execution and managing the existing client base. Field will work closely with other Middough regions to support the company's national agenda for the Process Business.

"I am very excited to join Middough's leadership team," expresses Field. "The company is uniquely positioned to capitalize on the growth of its business intelligence and performance management platform in the oil and gas marketplace. Middough surpasses its competitors with unmatched experience, functional expertise and technical capabilities to provide innovative solutions that significantly enhance our client's success."

Prior to his new position, Field has held project and engineering management positions with ARCO International Oil & Gas, Brown & Root, Getty Oil Co., Maverick Engineering and Thronson Engineering.

Field is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma with a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering. He received his master's in engineering from Texas A&M University and is a member of the Society of Petroleum Engineers (SPE).
